Glorious Church 30th: Three More 1-Minute Scripts (All Five Voices)

Every script uses all five interviews: Sisa, Pastor Ver, Mafil, Ben and RG. IDs match SCRIPT-BREAKDOWN; the few new short cuts are listed at the end with their timestamps. Times are approximate and include short pauses. None of these scripts uses a sensitive (⚠) line.

Option 4: "PASSING THE LIGHT" (a relay across generations)

Concept: Five people, five ways in, oldest to youngest: the pioneer, the pastor, the one born here, the one who followed a sound, the one who was invited. Then the relay runs back the other way, youngest to oldest, each speaking about what 30 years means, until the pioneer has the last word.

Look: the picture starts in black and white with Sisa and gains colour with each newer member, so RG is in full colour. The second half is warm colour throughout. Each person gets a gold lower-third the first time they appear.

Feel: one steady build. A single piano line at first, adding layers with each new voice.

Option 5: "FOLLOW THE SOUND" (built around worship)

Concept: Ben found the church by following the sound of worship. This script follows that sound back through 30 years: the instruments carried in the rain, the home God gave them, the moves of the Spirit in worship, the people in the ministries, the faithfulness that kept it going. It ends where it started, with Ben following the sound.

Look and sound: it opens on black with a worship song heard faintly, as if through a wall, and it gets clearer with each cut until it's full and present at the end. Cuts land on drum hits. If worship-team footage is available, cut it between the interviews. (This needs a worship recording or footage from the church.)

Feel: warm and rhythmic, music first.

Option 6: "DITO" (Here)

Concept: Pastor Ver's "Dito ako pinagpala… binago… pinaangat" ("Here I was blessed… changed… lifted") is the chorus. The other four each tell what happened to them here: Sisa under an old house, Mafil born here, Ben following a sound here, RG welcomed here. Each "Dito" lands as a hard cut, and the word DITO appears in gold, then translates to HERE.

Look: clean warm colour. Each "Dito" is a slow push-in. If footage of the church building or empty sanctuary is available, it can go under the "Dito" lines.

Feel: rhythmic and poetic. Hard cuts on the chorus, softer cuts on the stories between.

Which to pick

- Passing the Light gives each person a moment and a name card. It's the clearest "this is our church family" piece, and it can be built with what we have now.
- Follow the Sound is the most cinematic, but it needs worship audio or footage to really work.

- Dito is the most poetic and memorable. The "DITO / HERE" word could also be used in other anniversary material.
